Government Orders Restrictions On Building And Repairs

Drastic Action Ordered To Aid Home Building

Curbs On Construction And Repair Of Virtually All
Types Of Building
Directed

AUTHORIZATION BY GOVERNMENT NEEDED (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The government placed drastic curbs today on the construction or repair of virtually all types of buildings to channel materials into the construction of two million 700 thousand homes for veterans by the end of 1947.

Effective immediately, the action is designed to curtail non-essential building. Although the rigid restrictions apply to practically all structures, the government promised to speedily approve all applications for veterans to build homes.

Need Government Authorization

An order issued by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small and Federal Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt prohibits the start of any new commercial or industrial building unless specifically authorized by the government. It also strictly limits repair work on virtually all types of structures. The order applies in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands as well as in this country. CPA officials said that Hawaii and Alaska may be brought under the order later.

Banned Unless Approved

1. Construction or repair work in excess of $400 on houses, including farmhouses or other structures for residential property, designed for occupancy by five families or less.
2. Construction or repair jobs

PA NEW OBSERVES

Forsythia bushes appear to be in full bloom around the city at the present time. This is the earliest in many years that these early flowers have appeared in the spring.

Motorists report to Pa New that the epidemic of double parking in downtown streets seems to be increasing. Some motorists apparently believe they have a right to stop their car anywhere and rush into a building, leaving the car standing in the center of the street.

Appearance of an army "duck" in connection with recruiting here brought back a vivid recollection of wartime to New Castle residents. During the war years hundreds of these machines went through New Castle enroute from manufacturing plants to the seacoast.

The grounds surrounding the court house and the annex were receiving a real beauty treatment on Monday afternoon. The grass was receiving its second cutting of the season, the trees on the lawn were being nicely trimmed and the honor roll was being dressed up.

Someone is evidently wondering what happened to their knitting bag on his travels. Pa New noted a nice large one hanging on a telephone pole in the Pearson street area.

Pa New received complaints Monday afternoon from a number of enants in the Woods building, Mill and Washington streets, stating that

Thomas And Reuther Political Feud Splits Auto Workers Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 26.—(INS)—The world's largest labor union today was split down the middle by the raging political feud between President R. J. Thomas and Vice President Walter P. Reuther, who opposes him for reelection and control of nearly one million membership.

Ballot Tomorrow

Almost all other activity at the 10th annual convention of the United Auto Workers came to a dead stop as Thomas and his fiery opponent fired salvo upon salvo at each other in a battle which will be put to the ballot tomorrow.

In separate caucuses last night, Thomas bluntly connected the red-headed leader of the union's General Motors department with Dave Dubinsky and claimed there was a plot afoot to lead the UAW into the folds of the American Federation of Labor.

Reuther, on the other hand, charged that Thomas was lacking in "moral courage" because he refused a challenge to debate the issues of the campaign at a closed meeting of the UAW convention. "If the issues were brought out," Reuther asserted, "Thomas would find he didn't have a peg to hang his hat on."

Political Turmoil

Reuther also claimed that under Thomas' leadership the union was lacking in "coordination" of its various departments.

Sheriff Calls State Police To Strike Zone

Two Hundred Fifty State Troopers Summoned To Westinghouse Strike Area

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—Tension mounted to a new high today in the 71-day old Westinghouse Electric strike when 250 Pennsylvania state police dispersed a crowd of nearly 2000 strikers to permit 500 non-production workers to enter the strikebound plant.

On foot and horseback the troopers moved into the milling mob and ordered them to "keep moving." The mounted police remained on duty around the gates while the foot officers patrolled the sidewalks.

Picket Force Dwindles

No one was seriously injured during the brief clash.

Within an hour after the police arrived less than 300 strikers and pickets were in the vicinity of the sprawling plant.

Police were ordered to the scene when pickets manhandled supervisors and foremen after deputy sheriffs lost control of the mob and beat him loose.

Women pickets rushed the non-strikers, grabbed them by the arms

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTO CRASHES

Accidents In Fayette County Result In Fatalities; One Auto Strikes Bus

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Two persons were killed and several others injured today in two automobile accidents in Fayette County.

The dead were Eleanor Bliss, 25, daughter of Harry Bliss, of Uniontown, and Junior Williams, 30, of 211 Bedford avenue, Pittsburgh. Police said Miss Bliss was killed when the car in which she was riding struck an embankment and overturned at Morris crossroads near Point Marion.

Williams was fatally injured when his car, carrying several passengers, crashed into a Blue Ridge bus on Route 51, just outside of Uniontown.

A bus passenger, Edith Polarto, 32, of Waltersburg, suffered a shoulder injury and was treated at Uniontown hospital. Police reported several other passengers were badly shaken up in the mishap.

Williams' brother, David, 23, and Matthew Jefferson, 25, also were in the hospital suffering from injuries received in the crash.

No Marines Going Into Manchuria

PEIPING, March 26.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Louis R. Jones, commander of the United States Marine garrison at Peiping, said today that under present orders American leathernecks will not be sent into Manchuria.

Jones made his statement at a news conference at which he also denied Chinese press reports claiming that two Marines were killed and two wounded near Tientsin yesterday.

The leatherneck officer admitted that a hunting party of Marines was fired on by unidentified persons near Chinghai, seven miles south of Tientsin yesterday but said that there were no casualties.

William Winter, campaign secretary of the annual enrollment drive of the association, said today that according to the first complete report made, 300 new members have been enrolled by the 26 teams, and a total of $1065 in cash has been collected.

The "Army" teams, under the chairmanship of Harold Dickson, have brought in 120 new members and a total of $352 in cash money.

Final report of the teams will be made Saturday, March 30, and Sidney Lockley, Sr., general chairman of the campaign, expressed hope that the drive this year will be an outstanding success. He urged all teams to keep up the fine work they have displayed thus far in the effort and strive to put the drive over the top on a grand scale.

First Report On Food Situation Sent By Hoover

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—Former President Herbert Hoover was disclosed today to have cabled a lengthy report to the famine emergency committee on food conditions in France and Italy.

It is the first report that Hoover, honorary chairman of President Truman's emergency committee, has submitted to the group since he took off from New York for Europe a week ago to investigate food needs abroad.

The Hoover report on France and Italy—both claimant countries for relief feeding—is expected to be the main piece of business to be studied by the famine committee today at its second formal meeting.

Manila Strikes Brought To End

MANILA, March 26.—(INS)—Business began returning to normal in Manila today as striking employees agreed to return to their jobs.

In addition, telephone service is scheduled to resume tomorrow as communications workers ended their 20-day walkout.

End of the labor tie-up came as the strike situation assumed serious proportions.

Garbage and other refuse littered the streets, as the strike had affected waste removal service and street cleaning crews as well as clerical employees of the city.

The telephone strike had brought to a standstill the distribution of news as well as disrupting communications.

Readjustment Of Carrier Routes Under Way Here

Seven Additional Routes
Have Been Authorized
Postmaster Hanna
Announces

ROUTES BEING CHECKED NOW

Authorization has been received by Postmaster William R. Hanna to readjust the letter carrier routes of the city, whereby seven more carrier routes will be added to the postal system here.

Men are immediately available to fill these routes, Mr. Hanna stated, from substitute carriers who have been added during recent months, all veterans.

Inspectors have been out during the past ten days, checking the routes here, and within the near future, better service will be available for local residents.

Two Daily Deliveries

It is planned to give two complete deliveries every day in the residential district, and three in the business district. In addition, heavily populated areas immediately adjacent to the city will be included.

For some time past, it has been impossible to give this service due to strict adherence to the eight-hour day, and when a carrier had a heavy amount of mail to deliver, he would be unable to get over his entire territory on the second trip.

It will take some little time to work out the schedule. Postmaster Hanna stated, and residents are asked to bear with the local postal authorities.

Routes Change

It is possible that under the new schedule some folks who have been accustomed to getting early delivery, will not receive their mail until later, as the routes may be somewhat changed so that deliveries can be made to the advantage of the carrier. In other words, some folks who were on the beginning of the old route may be on the end of the new route. All morning deliveries will be completed by 11:30 o'clock, however, it is stated.

Inspectors have been making the rounds with the carriers for some time past, checking the distance covered by each carrier and gathering other information. These inspections, which are routine and made annually, were discontinued during the war, but are added importance now because of the new routes to be added.

Turco-Soviet Relations Not Much Improved

ANKARA, March 26.—(INS)—Semi-official Turkish sources said today that Russia's announced intention of evacuating Iran was no guarantee of improved Turco-Soviet relations.

They said that autonomous Azerbaijan province, with its pro-Soviet government, still was regarded as a corridor through which Red army forces could move up to the borders of Iraq and Turkey.

Improved relations between the two countries were said to depend upon abandonment of Russian claims on the Turkish provinces of Kars and Ardahan, and of Soviet attempts to revise the Montreux convention on the Dardanelles.

Bluebeard's Trial Procedure Arouses Paris Newspapers

PARIS, March 26.—(INS)—Newspaper indignation boiled over today on the heads of war-weary but sophisticated Parisians who have turned the trial of Dr. Marcel Pétiot, the bluebeard of Rue Lescur, into a hilarious three-ring circus.

The newspapers which without exception have demanded the guillotine for the voluble murderer who carved up his victims and burned them in his fashionable tree-shaded Chateau house, on Rue Lescur, poured their wrath on witnesses, court and prosecution alike.

It is generally accepted in Paris that the newspapers themselves have built up a far more formidable case against the admitted murderer of 63 men and women than have the sometimes angry and often shouting prosecutors.

Doctor Prize Performer

France Libre described the nation's most sensational criminal trial as a "well launched play drawing ever greater crowds" to the Palace of Justice where the table-thumping and talkative doctor is the prize performer.

Angered by the court's apparent inability to cope with Pétiot's unshakeable assertions that he murdered

TRUMAN INVITED TO CLEVELAND, O.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—A group of Ohioans, including part of the Ohio delegation to Congress, today invited President Truman to attend the sesquicentennial celebration in Cleveland on July 22.

The President told the group that he would like to come and hoped to do so if the press of national affairs permitted.

The White House announced earlier that the delegation would be headed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio and Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland. However, neither appeared with the group.

Lewis Declares Miners Will Not Work Next Week

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—John L. Lewis announced today that his 400,000 soft coal miners "will not work next week" and will remain at home until a new contract is negotiated "according to their fair treatment."

The UMW president served notice on bituminous operators that the existing coal wage contract will expire at midnight next Sunday. He also sent the same notification to local mine unions throughout the nation's soft coal fields and instructed them to be governed accordingly.

At a hastily summoned news conference, Lewis said:

"We are not calling a strike. We are notifying the operators of termination of the existing agreement. Obviously you all know the miners do not work without a contract. That is true in this instance."

"The mine workers will not work next week. They will remain at home with their families. They will remain at home until the coal operators agree to accord them fair treatment and until a new collective bargaining agreement is negotiated."

Meanwhile, American members of the committee expressed confidence that the committee's work would be "well underway" by the time the second session opens in New York tomorrow afternoon.

FALSE ALARM CALLS FIREMEN

Two fire companies were called to the corner of Friendship street and Cunningham avenue at 9:50 p. m. Monday, when a false alarm was turned in from that box.

Two girls, who were approaching the location, stated they saw a young boy turn in the alarm and gave his description to police, who are seeking the youth. Several false alarms have been turned in from this box recently. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reports.

Twelve families were made homeless as the fire razed eight of the frame houses and caused extensive damage to the other two.

CLEVELAND, March 26.—(INS)—Damage estimated at $200,000 resulted today from a spectacular blaze which swept a sprawling Cleveland lumber yard and ten houses.

Two casualties were reported. One woman, whose home was set afire, collapsed from a heart attack and was taken to a hospital for treatment. Another woman was injured when she was forced to flee while recovering from an operation.

The fire broke out late yesterday in the piles of lumber stacked over the 11-acre yard on the Dougherty Lumber Company on Cleveland's east side. Five alarms were sounded as the flames, fanned by a north wind, spread to the adjoining houses.

Twelve families were made homeless as the fire razed eight of the frame houses and caused extensive damage to the other two.

Britain Seeks Full Report On Iran Situation

Wants Details Of Negotiations Leading To Red Army Withdrawal At Iran

LONDON, March 26.—(INS)—The London Evening Star said today the British member of the UNO Security Council had been instructed to demand "full details" of negotiations leading to Red Army withdrawals from Iran.

The newspaper said Sir Alexander Cadogan had been told by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to get "the real facts" from Andrei Gromyko, the Russian Security Council representative.

To Seek Facts

The Star added that Cadogan was to inquire into the facts of the Red Army withdrawals themselves, details of any terms reached by Russia and Iran, and Moscow's reasons for violating the 1942 treaty setting March 2 as the deadline for troops withdrawals.

Cadogan was said to be awaiting a report from the British Charge D'Affaires in Tehran, who has been instructed to confirm that Soviet troops actually are withdrawing from Iran as announced in Moscow.

Meanwhile, government quarters speculated on the possible nature

Chinese Delegate Named World Arms Group Chairman

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—General Chang Chen, senior Chinese delegate to the United Nations Military Staff committee, has been named chairman of the world arms group until April 30.

It was disclosed today by military spokesmen that Chang was elected by unanimous approval of the Big Five at the initial staff meeting Monday.

Earlier it had been anticipated Russia would seek first chairmanship of the initial military group meeting in the United States. However, chief Soviet delegate General Vasiliev withdrew in favor of Chang at a terse ten-minute meeting Monday.

Meanwhile, American members of the committee expressed confidence that the committee's work would be "well underway" by the time the second session opens in New York tomorrow afternoon.

U.N.O. Prepares For Showdown On Iran Issue

Security Council Seeks Explanation From Russia For Iran Procedure

RUSSIA SEEKS TO HALT ANY ACTION (BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—The long-expected showdown on Iran's protest against Soviet military activities inside her borders occurred at the security council session of the UNO today when the United States firmly backed Tehran's demand for immediate consideration despite Moscow's moves for delay.

Immediately after Andrei Y. Gromyko, Soviet ambassador to the United States and chief of the Russian delegation, had expounded Moscow's opposition to the Iranian demand, United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes took the floor at UNO headquarters in Hunter College.

Formal Complaint

He made the point that the constituted government of Iran had lodged formal complaint against Russia.

Byrnes emphasized that this complaint charged Soviet Russia with interfering in the internal affairs of Iran, thus endangering the peace and security of the world.

Gromyko had labelled the Iranian charge as one that was "not fitting" to be placed upon the agenda.

Evacuating Iran

He referred to the published announcement by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin that Russian troops are being evacuated from Iran under terms of a tripartite agreement reached in 1942 and that the withdrawal will be completed within five or six weeks.

The Soviet ambassador also men-

Battle Impends On Unification Of Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—A bitter battle is scheduled to break out within the next few days between the army and navy over pending legislation for unification of the armed forces.

Both sides today were reported preparing blasting statements in an attempt to bring the fight into the open over the coming week end.

The army-navy "war" the proposed merger is expected to begin with the sale April 1 of a book entitled "The Case Against the Act." The volume is a plea for early unification.

It was learned that the Navy department has prepared a rebuttal statement which already has been sent to book reviewers. The statement attempts to refute arguments presented in the book.

High ranking army officers who have been fighting for unification have charge that the navy has been conducting a "secret" campaign to get pending merger legislation shelved.

and begged them not to enter the building. Other non-production workers were pelted with eggs and other missiles.

Sheriff Walter Monaghan arrived at the scene at daybreak and was joined later by 60 deputies. As the entrance deadline approached the sheriff ordered the streets near the main gate cleared of looters for a half block each way.

Suddenly 25 supervisors made a bolt for the main gate with the angered pickets in pursuit. Others worked their way through the milling throng, most of the time unrecognized until they reached the fringe of the strikers.

Pushing and shouting broke loose. Deputy sheriffs rushed to the aid of the non-production workers and assisted them through the lines.

Monaghan said he called the state police—stationed at the Greensburg barracks—when company officials said they wanted between 700 and 1000 supervisors inside the plant.

Possible Break Seen

A possible "break" in the 71-day-old strike was seen by union officials in two scheduled conferences—one in Washington and the other in Harrisburg.

Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach in Washington was reported ready to take a hand personally in an effort to break the deadlock, or appoint a special mediator, as was done in the recent United Automobile Workers strike.

A union representative was scheduled to meet with Governor Martin in Harrisburg and formally protest use of state police in the strike.

Union International Representative Charles Newell said he requested Washington action to have the dispute aired before the senate subcommittee on education and labor.

of the Moscow-Tehran agreement which Stalin's brief announcement said preceded the decision to recall Soviet troops from the oil-rich Near Eastern nation.

Iran Revising Policy

It was recalled that the Moscow radio previously had quoted unconfirmed reports that Iran was revising her policy regarding oil concessions to foreign powers and had agreed to remove Tehran "reactionaries" from office.

Iran also had been reported ready to recognize the pro-Soviet antimonarchy regime in Azerbaijan province.

At the same time, official circles were described as anxious for conclusive U. N. O. discussions to dispel once and for all the clouds of international suspicion which have arisen over the Iranian issue.

tioned official statements from Premier Ahmad Ghassemlou of Iran to the same effect and reaffirmed what he said was Russia's determination to preserve peace throughout the world and cooperate with all other nations.

Secretary Byrnes took immediate issue with Gromyko's presumption that Iran and Russia are in accord on the withdrawal.

Second Session
NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—The United Nations security council assembled for its second historic session today, prepared to go to the heart of the Russian-Iranian dispute which has assumed explosive qualities.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British council member, was in receipt of instructions from London to demand "full details" from Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko as to the nature of any deal made between Russia and Iran, particularly concerning oil.

To Present Iran's Case

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala was standing by to present his country's case to the all-powerful security council. Advice from Tehran said the Iranian government still wanted the dispute aired here—despite Moscow's announcement that Russian troops had begun their withdrawal last Sunday.

The big question mark was the tactics Gromyko would adopt in defense. It was anticipated his first move would either be a motion to defer discussion of the Iranian matter or a postponement of the entire council meeting to a later date.

Another possibility was that the Russian council member might seek to embarrass the United States and Great Britain by demanding that if the Iranian issue was to be brought up, the council also should consider the Franco-Spanish dispute.

Economic Sanctions?

Washington and London were in receipt today of notes from the French government proposing the imposition of economic sanctions on Franco Spain, particularly in the way of withholding oil from the Spanish people.

France personally has decided against bringing up the Spanish issue before the security council, and Ambassador Henri Bonnet is expected to state if Gromyko makes a move otherwise.

The United States, with Great Britain and others of the eleven-member members of the security council concurring, had determined that the Soviet Union should be called upon for any accounting for failure to make this troop withdrawal from Iran as agreed.

Soviet Russia, through its security council member, Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, was expected to push the issue, either by moving for a postponement of the Russian-Iranian dispute or a complete deferment of deliberations by the entire U. N. O. security council.

At yesterday's opening session of the U. N. O. security council, American Secretary of State Byrnes—after welcoming the council to its first meeting on new world shores—hammered away at the idea "no nation has the right to take the law in its own hands." When international disputes fail of settlement by friendly negotiations, he said, "they must be brought before the security council."

Continue Work Under Way

The order does not forbid or require authorization for the continuance of construction work already begun. It provides that materials for the structure must have been incorporated in it on the site before today or work must be going on before a project is considered to be under way.

Committees composed of local citizens will be organized in 71 cities throughout the country to rule on the question of whether governmental approval shall be granted a construction or repair project.

Applicants for building or repair work may appeal the decision to the CAP or Federal Housing Administration.

The order stipulates that no persons may sell or deliver materials which he knows will be used in work prohibited by it. No person may participate in work banned by the order.

It does not apply to repainting and repapering or to greasing and repairing or installing repair or replacement parts in existing equipment, where no change is made in the structure itself.

CHAPTER 105 OES HAS INSTALLATION

New Castle Chapter No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star members opened their chapter meeting at 4:30 Monday afternoon in the Scottish Rite Cathedral and initiated a class of candidates with Worthy Matron, Mrs. Coraetta Reid and Worthy Patron Henry Jackson in charge.

Lovely hand-painted programs, handiwork of Miss Helen Clark and Mrs. Clara Lightner, marked places for more than 150 guests when they assembled in the main dining room at 6:30 for the installation banquet.

There were a number of guests from out of town.

Arrangements of spring flowers and lighted candles in harmonizing pastel tints formed the decorations.

During dinner a program of music and other entertainment was presented under the direction of Mrs. Flossie Weller assisted by Mrs. Anna Pyle and choir members.

Following the banquet guests went to the east lodge room for the installation ceremony.

Installing officers Miss Dorothy Long, Mrs. Constance Williams and Mrs. Lillian Turner, in an impressive manner, installed Mrs. Marie Covert and Henry Jackson and their corps of officers for the coming year with Mrs. Olive Hewitt, district deputy grand matron, assisting.

Songs were sung by Miss Ruth Weir and Mrs. Flossie Weller.

Mrs. Betty Downing appeared in a "Gay Nineties" costume and, in a solo part, and carrying a gay spring basket, presented various officers with gifts.

Mrs. Reid received many congratulations on an outstanding year as worthy matron and both she and Mrs. Covert were recipients of gifts and flowers from members and friends.

Following serving, Mrs. Mabel Huffman, program chairman, presented the following entertainment: recitations, Miss Alma Lutz; recitations, Alice Jean Thompson, Mary Edna Maxwell, Elaine Gibson, Glenn and Bradley Glass; and vocal solos, Stanley Thayer, Larry and Bonny Weman. Erma Allen offered a piano solo, while piano duets were contributed by Edna Thompson and Mrs. Fred Thompson and Erma Allen and Mrs. Horace Allen. Group singing, with Mrs. Lloyd Gill as accompanist, was also enjoyed.

Officers elected for the ensuing year at the last meeting were installed by Mrs. C. R. Thayer.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Horace Allen, president, plans were made for the group to attend the spring presbytery Thursday, April 25, at the Ellwood City U. P. church.

The society will meet Monday evening, April 22.

President's Speech Of Polyanna Type

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Now and then a literary friend looks over my shoulder during the writing of this daily stuff. To help tone up the report on President Truman's speech at the Jackson Day dinner, he came through with several gratuitous suggestions.

He said that the president's speech made him think of Mr. Micawber, Dickens' eternal optimist who was always sure that something was about to turn up to change his fortunes.

But we ruled out Dickens' old sentimentalism. After all, Mr. Micawber came to a bad end. He was sure that something was about to turn up on the very eve of his arrest for bad debts.

Next, my eager friend suggested a parallel with Voltaire's candidate. Candidate was forever saying, "All is for the best in the best of possible worlds." He kept on saying it even when he was going through the most painful and horrifying experiences.

Candidate seemed, however, a little too high flown, too literary, Voltaire was out.

What it came down to, and this is a confession, was Eleanor Hodgman Porter's gem of some years back, "Polyanna, the Glad Girl." What is more, and this really is pretty bad, my friend suggested it should be spelled "Polyannanna." "Polyanna" came out considerably before the Coolidge era, but it would have served admirably as a piece of the moral furniture of that time—as a large, squashy sofa into which you could sink right up to your neck.

Perhaps my friend was unnecessarily unkind about the president's speech. After all, it was an occasion for good fellowship with the members of his party gathered around the festive board.

In advance of the speech, however, there had been rumblings of what the president would say as to party unity and party responsibility. There seemed reason to believe that this would be a hard-hitting talk in which the chief executive would serve notice that irresponsibility in congress was not merely damaging democratic chances of re-election, but threatening the nation's reconstruction program.

The president may have such a speech in his system. Heaven knows he had plenty of provocation.

But the Jackson Day speech was not it. That address had all the violent impact of a feather falling on velvet.

All of this makes talk of a purge within the Democratic party sound very foolish. President Roosevelt was reluctantly persuaded in 1938 to try to eliminate some of the most contrary Democrats in congress. With one exception, that attempt failed miserably. The rancor it left behind was not soon forgotten.

It is hard to conceive of President Truman taking a similar step. He has long been schooled in party orthodox and party loyalty.

Many Dissenters
There are dissenters who defy the president from his very front porch, or that used to be his front porch. Representative Roger C. Slaughter of Missouri was elected from the district of Missouri that includes a large part of Jackson county. It includes Truman's home town of Independence.

Slaughter has voted against almost every measure Truman has recommended to congress. Moreover, as a member of the monopolistic rules committee, he has helped to bottle up the "must" bills the president has sent up to the hill. Another Missourian, Clarence Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, has certainly not helped his old friend.

The strongest approach in the presidential speech to party unity and party responsibility was to say that without it "the party program is delayed." That is certainly an understatement. The party program is already seriously delayed. Earlier in his talk the president had said, "Only by dedicating ourselves to the principle of national unity can we keep America strong and free. And this same basic principle applies to the Democratic party. As in the nation at large, there is diversity of opinion among us, but the fundamental principles of the Democratic party bind us together in a unity of purpose—and inflexible determination that our party shall advance to new and greater achievements."

The stage had been set. Secretary Wallace and Democratic Chairman Harneghan had both struck the note of party obligation. But the president is apparently not prepared to quarrel with the men in his party who are sabotaging his program.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sen. Scott Lucas (D) Illinois: "Our leadership in the world demands that we promote the instruments of peace, rather than the instruments of war. Those responsible for the atomic bomb-testing program should turn their talents in other directions."

WASHINGTON—President Truman: "America must lead the way to a better world order. We seek increasingly close friendship with all nations. And we shall strengthen the foundations of the United Nations."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Arthur Capper (R) Kansas: "If the United States is to remain free from Old World domination we must take a firm stand with Russia, with whom there is not any reason we cannot remain at peace."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:16. Sun rises tomorrow 5:56.

Two people who opened their traps a little too much are now being given the chance to wish they hadn't. They are "Axis Sally" Mildred E. Gillars, former resident of Maine, and Fred W. Kautenbach, American-born. Lord "Haw-Haw" recently turned up in Germany. They were bad enough, but there are lots of folks right in our midst who are just as bad. Folks who would have been at the head of the parade if any foreign power marched into town. We could even call a few of them by name.

The danger in a universal strike is that people might learn how many things they don't really need. In England, you can be arrested if you are late for work. If you fail to wash empty bottles, or if you push ahead of other people waiting for a bus. We would like to see the latter two laws enacted in this country, particularly the latter of the latter two.

Now comes a scientist who suggests that distillers put vitamins in liquor. What's become of that theory that a double-header is as full of food value as a loaf of bread?

A pompous gentleman approached another in a party and proclaimed, "I'm Thaddeus P. Smith, Esquire."

"Glad to know you," the other retorted. "I'm John Jones, Woman's Home Companion."

Walking opines the Sheep Hill Philosopher, may be good for the health, but it also causes a lot of people to get run down.

Rinsing the mouth with vinegar says a household hint, will restore the sensibility of the sense of smell. Might be, good smell but bad taste.

Billie, who had been having trouble with his older cousin, Ralph, came into the house. His mother, knowing nothing of the trouble, said, "Billie, what would you like to give your cousin Ralph for Christmas?"

"I know what I'd like to give him," said Billie, "but I'm not big enough."

A noted playwright says the average telephone girl has a better enunciation than the average actress. Sure, all she has to memorize is "Number please" and "Excuse me, please."

When a playful zest of wind whisked a man's hat off in downtown Philadelphia, it resulted in a collision between three cars trying to avoid running down the hat chaser; the arrest of two of the drivers on charges of assault and battery with an automobile and hospitalization of two passengers. The man retrieved his hat and walked away unnoticed. There ought to be a law that would make pedestrians stop and render assistance, too.

Labor unions are getting more snooty every day. Striking employees of a Connecticut toy factory turned up with something new in the picketing business. They appeared in front of the oxier's apartment in evening clothes.

Call on the sick, but don't say: "Don't you think he looks worse to-day, doctor?" We are all so glad that he is prepared.

A GOOD BUY
Jackie proudly announced to his teacher: "We've got a new baby and it cost $100."

"Goodness," the teacher replied, "Isn't that a lot of money for a tiny baby?"

"Yes, but think how long they last!" Jackie said.

Beautiful New Neighbor: "Little boy, I need a loaf of bread from the store. Do you think you could go for me?"

Neighbor Boy: "No, but I heard my old man say he could in a big way."

Why didn't frontier people die of infections? Because the virgin land had no "bugs" till dirty humans brought them.

If you want to know what is the matter with things in this country, here are a few illustrations. Only the boundary line and a wire fence separates Calexico, Calif., and Mexico, Mexico. The ceiling price of certain types of lumber in Calexico is $35. It can be sold over the border in Mexico for $80 where there is a nice building boom going on. Now, do you suppose gets the lumber?

Five very nice residences are located along the highway near Camp Reynolds. They have been boarded up for four years. While there is no lumber to build houses, there is lumber to board up these places, so no one can get in. And do you think returning GIs, who need these houses can get into them. Yes, you guessed right. They can't.

Great Game Of Politics

Purge Will Further Divide Party Strength

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Interesting and significant things happened in politics last week which affect Democrats very much more than they do Republicans. It is an understatement to say that many Democratic members of the House and Senate were not pleased with any of the three.

THE first was an announcement from the CIO's PAC of its purpose to raise a fund of $6,000,000 for use in the primaries this year to nominate and elect members of Congress who share its views. The second was a statement from Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace urging that members of Congress who fail to support the party leadership be subjected to party discipline. The third was a speech by Democratic Chairman Robert Harneghan in which he denounced the coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans who have opposed parts of the Administration program and warned Democratic dissenters of the consequences.

ON THE surface, these three pronouncements seem individual and unconnected. Actually, they are nothing of the kind. Actually, they are essentially the same aimed in the same direction, at the same people and using the same ammunition.

Mr. Harneghan, head of the PAC, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Harneghan are close personal and political friends. Of the three, Mr. Harneghan is by far the strongest. He carries much more weight, is able to swing many more votes and cause much more trouble.

THE other two, who are eyeing Mr. Harneghan, depend on him politically much more than he on them. Mr. Harneghan's $6,000,000 announcement came first. The Harneghan-Wallace utterances followed. If the three did not consult and conspire in advance, if they had no knowledge of what each was going to do or say, if they had not formed a little "coalition" of their own, they would have been a great deal less effective.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYER, Ph. D.

TEAMWORK BEST IN FAMILY RELATIONS

In these days when so many homes and hearts of children are being broken by divorce we might well consider whether we parents who stick together and try to be companionable can do anything to help promote successful permanent marriage in our children.

Having lived together cooperatively and companionably may be no small achievement. Let those parents who think they have succeeded in this direction avoid criticizing other parents who don't. Some married persons have far more items in their favor to begin with than do others, in their own upbringing and in the example of their own parents.

Marital Success

However, none can hope to achieve best marital and parental success without constant striving. The trouble is that most of us are not inclined to put forth the necessary effort in self-discipline and adjustment. One person of the married couple may, however, incline to let the other do practically all the striving toward success. No team can pull well, of course, when either member doesn't do his or her own share.

Assuming that both parents pull together, they can do much to guide this child from his birth in good habits and ideas, as they discipline him in ways to render him conservative of the rights of others. To these ends, he will have to acquire self-discipline and self-control and ability to get along with others, especially those of his own age. There is an obvious relation here.

Asserts Atomic Bomb Cannot Be Kept Secret
Hoover To Tour Europe Without Newspapermen
Admiral Ernest J. King Given Real Surprise

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—William Higginsham, chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, insists that atom bomb secrets cannot be kept.

Higginsham asserts: "No FBI and no Army vigilance can keep the world from finding out what we know. Our secrets are leaking out at the rate of so many protons a second from every cyclotron in the world."

"They are being revealed wherever nature of the world is studied by any scientist of any nationality. American, Canadian, Russian or Chinese."

The atom expert insists, therefore, that rigid international controls must be worked out now. He contends that a policy of secrecy "only slightly postpones the day of reckoning, until other nations are making atom bombs."

Higginsham and fellow scientists believe the whole concept of military security should be re-examined in the light of total scientific warfare.

He points out that American scientists already have pretty well calculated what the results of the forthcoming atom bomb tests in the Marshall Islands will be and that "scientists in other countries can also calculate."

New World Order Is Problem
The scientist argues that the No. 1 secret which should be guarded is the answer to the question: "What kind of world order must we have to save civilization?"

He insists that in that answer lies the best—perhaps the only—defense against the dread power of the atom bomb.

Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman of President Truman's famine emergency committee, will make his inspection of starving Europe without being accompanied by members of the United States press. He stood firm by this decision, despite high administration pressure to take at least three leading correspondents with him.

Instead, Hoover is taking only his old cronies of the World War I food relief program and a single representative of the agriculture department.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson reminded Hoover, before the latter made his "no press" decision, that much of the success of the program to induce Americans voluntarily to reduce their rations depends on the publicity given the famine emergency.

Anderson told Hoover flatly that "we feel it is highly important for you to take reporters from the three press associations so we can have daily stories of our progress and (Continued on Page Five)

Blushing prettily, a young woman handed the telegram clerk a message to a soldier containing only the word "Yes."

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Funny how the human body reacts to conditions. Men went away and lived under the most trying conditions. Went through months without eating, slept in cold wet clothing. Traveled by foot for miles and miles. Ate little and slept less. Nerves kept on edge for days at a time. . . but they were able to take it without feeling any great pain. . . Then they came home and start to live a normal life. . . what happens. . . aches and pains show up by the hand full. Could it be that some of these ailments are caused by the imagination? It's difficult to make a fellow who is kept awake most of the night by a pain on ache believe it's his imagination.

There seems to be a tendency to split up the veterans who served in War I during World War One the wedge was driven in and a great distinction was made between those who served overseas and those who stayed in this country. Today the wedge seems to be heading toward the enlisted men and officers. This is definitely not a one-sided argument but really there should be no argument whatsoever. The officers who have had a heck of a time with the enlisted men and visa versa.

However a great deal of the blame for the present feeling can be contributed to some high ranking officers and ex-officers. Some believe they should receive jobs in civilian life equal to their rank. . . and that enlisted men should be treated the same. Every man is equal and should enjoy the same privileges and opportunities at a given job. . . Personnel managers who were connected with the services believe that just because a man was a PFC he should be a ditch digger and that the other fellow who became a major or captain should be a whiz in administration.

Governing men under army rule is a wee bit different than in civilian life. . . a civilian life has no courts martial to whip around or statement of charges. Yep, now you can tell your boss to go away and all he can do is fire you.

Red Cross Campaign

There is hardly a person in Lawrence county but who has had personal reason to express appreciation for the deeds of the Red Cross in behalf of some son or friend.

The Red Cross is a humanitarian, efficient organization which succors our unfortunates in times of peace as well as in times of war. We are glad the Red Cross has no demands for war use this year aside from its continued attention to our young men and women overseas and its continuing aid to those recuperating from the ravages of body and mind resulting from war.

Almost every day the Red Cross is called upon to administer the sort of aid with which many Americans have had actual contact—that of disaster relief. Those tasks have devolved upon the organization whether or not we were at war. Every hurricane, flood and epidemic leaves a task for the Red Cross.

The local campaign is in the final week. Do your share to aid the drive to reach its goal of $52,000.

Gasoline Motor

Fifty-four years ago Charles E. Duryea demonstrated that gasoline, exploded in an internal combustion engine, could provide power for vehicular use.

Even after Duryea proved that his gasoline engine worked, there were scoffers who could see nothing practical in it, as in the case of most revolutionary discoveries.

Prior to the discovery that gasoline could be used as a power agent, that by-product of petroleum had been regarded as waste, fit only to remove oil from the clothes of workers.

The expanded use of gasoline as a motive agent made possible in the last war the greatest air and automotive activity in the history of the world, actually winning the war.

Some Price Control Ends

Don't look now, but the OPA announces that it has ended price control on a number of commodities recently. Among those on which there will be no more control, it is said, are pianos and organs, chrome or silver-plated carates, cocktail shakers, hand-finished glassware, portable ice-chests, Navajo rugs, and unglazed flower pots. There are others.

All of which may lead one to wonder why price control on such items was necessary in the first place. The OPA tried to regulate the price of everything produced in America, and undoubtedly took in too much territory. Had it confined its activities to a comparatively few items which were essential to the public during the war, the whole price control program would have been much simpler to understand and to regulate.

Stopping Slander

Glenn A. Green is a man not everyone may have heard of, but he earns distinction when he voices a complaint with universal appeal. Mr. Green, state publicity director for Arkansas, deserves sympathetic backing.

Green has become tired of all the cracks at Arkansas made by radio and film comics. Highbills, homespun fiddlers and cornicker swaglers, if the gags are even remotely true, constitute at least two-thirds of the state's population.

Green has launched a crusade to convince the world that Arkansas is not inhabited chiefly by backwoods bumpkins. What aroused his ire was a cartoon map of the United States picturing the attractions of each region, and which showed in all his pleasurable rusticity one of those long-bearded, barefooted, jug-toting characters who might conceivably be found in the Ozarks, but who is no more typical of Arkansas than of any of the other forty-seven states.

Mysterious Fact

One of the more interesting points in a recent survey of infantile paralysis in the United States is that one county in Nevada—Nye—has never had a case of this dreaded ailment. The county has a population of approximately 3,600 with an area of 18,29 square miles. Tonopah is the county seat. It is one of the least watered areas in the nation, its terrain is rough, filled with minerals and it is located in a desert area.

It would be informative to know why this county has escaped visitation of infantile paralysis. There might be something in the atmosphere, in the water or some chemicals in the land that defeats polio. The chance that sparsity of population has something to do with it is not remote.

But there are other sparsely settled counties in the West that did not escape, although two counties in southeastern Oregon have been relatively free, as have other counties in Nevada.

The way that housing shortage continues to develop might indicate that they want to make the boys feel at home in a foxhole.

One of the boys in our neighborhood says that he went to Europe to fight for the Four Freedoms and ended up by getting married.

Now, if the Army and Navy brass hats would only move their offices out of the Pentagon building at Washington there wouldn't be any housing shortage.

Size Of Festival Band Is Cut Down By Lack Of Rooms

Scarcity Of Rooms Means Decrease In Number Of Students Who Can Come Here In April

Deadline for local response to the request for rooms for high school students attending the Mid-Western Pennsylvania Band Festival on April 25 and 26 has been set for Friday evening, March 29, according to general chairman of the festival, Clare B. Book.

With the situation as it is now, the Festival Band will be composed of about 175 young musicians instead of the anticipated 265. The necessary cutting-down will mean disappointing many students throughout the counties which will be represented, and will also mean a decrease in the number of friends and parents who plan to attend the festival.

Recorded Auditions Final
For the first time since the band festivals started, the students will be selected from recorded auditions. Hereafter, the music students of the many sections of the band—such as reed, brass, or percussion—played solos in person for the Band Directors' committee. This is a trying experience for the youngsters, and consequently many were not at their best.

During the past month, local director Joseph F. Replogle, held evening auditions throughout the seven counties recording each student's playing in private. Both the students and their directors eagerly attended these auditions enthusiastically. General Chairman Book, Senior High school principal, has selected chairmen from the high school teaching staff to handle the many details connected with the Band Festival—housing, entertainment, transportation, programs, and tickets.

Students coming for the festival need a room for the two nights and breakfast on Friday and Saturday mornings. The remainder of their time and the rest of their meals will be planned by the Festival committee. Those who will be able to offer a room for the two nights should notify Mrs. Marjorie Nelson at the Senior High school.

Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 26.—(INS)—Milan Vuckovich, 37, of West Hazleton, a disabled veteran was taken into court Monday at Wilkes-Barre to answer to a murder charge but was permitted to plead guilty to manslaughter after it was established he had shot and killed Eyo Buzovich, 42, in self defense during a political argument.

Judge Thomas Ferrell accepted the plea after the commonwealth agreed to the manslaughter charge. Vuckovich, he added, would be sentenced next week.

Vuckovich served with the U. S. Army in the European theater of operations for three years and was wounded in action. Buzovich was slain by a bullet from a Belgian Luger.

PROBE CHARGES AGAINST PRINCIPAL
GREENSBURG, Pa., March 25.—(INS)—The Westmoreland county district attorney today continued to probe morals charges lodged against 45-year-old John W. Stark, principal of the Smithton grade school.

The charges were lodged against Stark by the parents of two teen-ager boys.

Stark is being held in jail pending the outcome of the investigation.

Seek Removal Of Employees Holding Pro-Soviet Leaning

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—A House Military Affairs subcommittee served notice on the State department that it will continue its efforts to obtain the removal of employees charged with having "strong pro-Soviet leanings."

Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky), chairman of the subcommittee also informed Alfred McCormack, head of the State Department Intelligence division, that the committee would not comply with his request for further hearings on the charge.

The position of the subcommittee was disclosed in a letter written to McCormack, replying to his request for a further hearing. May wrote: "Although desirous of extending every courtesy to you, it does not accord with the considered opinion of the committee to conduct any hearing with the view to determining qualifications of State department personnel for the reason that it could be very reasonably advanced that it does not come within the purview of the committee's power."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

When the upsurge of divorces and the philosophy of excessive "self-expression" so widely accepted and practiced in the homes of our nation.

Lack Of Consideration
The child at one, five, 12, 16 or 20 who nearly always has his own way, who lacks consideration of the rights and feelings of others, is a poor prospect later for a good husband or wife, father or mother.

When a spoiled child can't have his way at play he quarrels or runs away.

If he should marry, he may continue to want to have his way, and then quarrel or quit the marriage obligations at the slightest provocation. One can only guess how many wives and husbands seek divorce because they were spoiled children, but the proportion of divorces from such cause must be very great, indeed.

While there obviously are many other factors contributing to successful marriage, proper self-discipline and self-control and practice at getting on with others from early years onward are certainly among the first essentials. Now self-control and self-discipline as we have often said before, begins with control and discipline from without, especially in the child's early years and this control and discipline is most effective as a rule, in a family atmosphere of love and understanding.

Wisely, we begin when the child is born, even before to educate him for successful marriage and parenthood. A selected list of books on marriage, education for marriage and how to make a go of it may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City.

WONDER BREAD

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

the content and timing of their individual pronouncements constitute one of the most extraordinary coincidences of politics.

IT IS the sort of "coincision" which the constituent parts are compelled to deny. But, while confusion cannot be proved, the circumstantial evidence is strong and the denials do not carry conviction. For one thing, politically, these three in the past have uniformly operated together. For another, Mr. Hannegan has made painfully obvious his anxiety to "keep on the good side" of the CIO. For another Mr. Wallace, to a considerable degree, is a CIO political product. Without the CIO he would be a political joke. For another, the CIO cannot get very far politically without governmental support.

MOST informed men in public life are fully aware of these facts. Accordingly, it is not surprising that the Hillman-Wallace-Hannegan utterances should have stirred resentment—particularly among Democrats who are not convinced of the CIO lobby, who have convictions of their own and vote independently.

To these an exhortation on the evils of independence from Mr. Wallace is partly amusing and partly offensive. Mr. Wallace, it will be recalled, very recently supported for Congress a man who was not on the Democratic ticket at all and seemed closer to the Communists than to the Democrats. Mr. Wallace isn't anybody's idea of a regular. Talk about party discipline from him is slightly ridiculous.

WE ARE now told it is Mr. Wallace's purpose to take the stump and in a series of speeches in the South and elsewhere urge the voters to drive out of the party those members of Congress who do not support Administration measures which he and the CIO approved.

In his Saturday night speech he appeared to hedge a little on the purge idea, but he is hooked up with the CIO plan nevertheless. Put all this together and it amounts to a "purge" financed by the CIO, ballyhooed by Mr. Wallace and Mr. Hannegan. If it does not add up to that, then it makes no sense. Of course, it is not going to get any farther than Mr. Roosevelt's famous "purge" of 1938, though if by any chance, some Democrats not liked by the CIO should be defeated, undoubtedly the CIO would claim full credit.

WHAT this attempted "purge" will do, however, is further divide the party, increase bitterness between the factions and improve Republican chances of carrying the House in November. One would think that Mr. Truman would prefer the election of the independent type of Democrat to that and call off his not overly brilliant campaign. His Saturday night plea for party unity, of course, did not induce or commit him to the "purge." Incidentally it is worth noting that among the Democrats whom the CIO is raising money to "liquidate" whom Mr. Wallace wants driven out of the party and Mr. Hannegan believes are a number of the best men in Congress regardless of party.

Mrs. Roosevelt Not Attending U.N.O. Sessions

BURBANK, Calif., March 26.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a United States representative to the United Nations Organization, said Monday she would not attend any session of the World Security Council in New York.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she felt such a "touchy" matter as the Iranian dispute should be left to those who know what's going on.

Mrs. Roosevelt made her declaration as she boarded a United Airlines plane for San Francisco. Asked whether she believed the United States or the Security Council should insist upon an explanation of Russia's delay in withdrawing troops from Iran, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"Don't Know What's Going On"
"I don't think we know what is going on and those things should be left to those who do know. By that I mean such men as Secretary of State Byrnes and Edward R. Stettinius, our representative on the council."

The widow of the late president pointed out that she was not a member of the council and would therefore follow her own suggestion of leaving the affairs there up to the nation's official representatives.

In reference to her remark in Los Angeles that British representatives to the recent London meeting of the U.N.O. "always looked down their noses" Mrs. Roosevelt said she was merely pointing out the "traditional professional" approach of the British to world problems as compared with "amateurish" and open enthusiasm of the delegates from the United States and Russia.

Naval Veteran Reveals He Is Army Deserter

CHICAGO, March 26.—(INS)—Navy and Army officials were undecided today whether they would give a naval veteran with eight major battle stars earned in Pacific action his honorable discharge or try him as an Army deserter.

The combat veteran enlisted in the Navy as "George Fischer." When he was scheduled to receive his honorable discharge at the U. S. Naval training center at Great Lakes last Thursday he revealed his true name and his status.

"Fischer" said he was really Harold Leroy Friedman of New York. He said he was inducted into the Army under his right name in New York early in 1942.

After eight months service, Friedman "got tired of it," he said, and on August 23, 1943 he took leave from Camp Hale, Colo., where he was with the ski troops.

The Army declared him a deserter six weeks later, but Friedman was then in the Navy at Chicago.

He made a phenomenal 94.6 average at the University of Illinois naval training school. His high mark won him a double promotion to the petty officer rating of signalman third class.

Friedman is not disturbed over his fate.

He explained his decision to reveal the truth in these words:

"I didn't want to live under an alias any more anyway."

King Is Stumped
In these days of debate over Army-Navy preferences for academy trained men, some critics of Navy brass cite this incident.

Hardbitten, austere Adm. Ernest J. King—before he became chief of naval operations—was called on to present, in formal ceremonies, a decoration to an ensign who had distinguished himself as a Navy aviator.

The youth appeared smartly in King's office in a stiffly starched and creased white uniform. He was evidently embarrassed and overawed.

King, equally stiff and unsmiling read the citation. The ensign bent backward at attention in the best Navy tradition.

When over, King eyed the youth. "Well son," he said, "which class were you in at the academy?"

Without a flinch the boy countered: "What academy, admiral, sir?"

King granted, almost inaudibly, and dismissed the session.

To 'Pick Brains' Of Axis Experts For Vital Secrets

Approve Program To Screen German and Jap Scientists For Hidden Secrets

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—The house appropriations committee today approved a civilian-army program designed to "pick the brains" of defeated Germany and Japan for scientific knowledge valued at "many hundreds of millions of dollars."

The group approved a $400,000 appropriation to permit the department of commerce to send technical "screening" teams to Germany and Japan to question Axis scientists, scrutinizing thousands of heretofore secret documents, and inspect industrial plants.

The committee was advised that the teams will be permitted to operate in the Russian, French and English occupation zones in Germany as well as the American zone.

The greatest discoveries were announced in Germany, where most of the work will be concentrated.

To Help Industry

The results of this systematic exploitation of Axis scientific and industrial technology will be made available to American industry.

Bradley Dewey, president-elect of the American Chemical society, predicted that "tens of thousands" of American workmen would be employed as a result of the research done overseas.

An indication of the importance attached to the program was the disclosure that the Germans have been conducting research on polyurethanes, a synthetic comparable to United States nylon.

Effective Vaccine

The committee was also advised that Japanese documents have been obtained in which it is claimed that scientists at Osaka university have discovered an effective vaccine for infantile paralysis.

A commerce department official revealed also that "the most secret and confidential files of the German patent office" have been located in a salt mine and are now awaiting scrutiny.

Funds for the new program were included in a $233,790,153 deficiency appropriation for the current fiscal year for various government agencies, such as the departments of commerce, state, agriculture and treasury, Federal Security Agency, Civil Service Commission, etc. Funds are provided for United States participation in the United Nations.

Policeman Frank Macchia arrested the trio after they reportedly upset a barricade carrying several red lights at an excavation at Water and South Mill street.

Mayor John F. Haven imposed the sentences.

Pittsburgh Youth Named As Finalist

PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—The boy who was "too young to fool with such dangerous stuff" as sulfuric acid, has been named as a finalist in the national science talent search.

Because dealers refused to sell him chemicals, Donald J. Shombert turned to making his own supplies and sharpened his interest in his favorite subject—chemistry.

Donald, who first whetted his scientific appetite with toy electric trains, learning to take them apart and rewire them, turned to chemistry when he read a book a friend had asked him to return to the library.

In Washington this month, Donald will compete in a five day talent institute contest for $11,000 in Westinghouse scholarships.

Dependents To Join Husbands In Europe Soon

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Instructions and travel orders are being issued by the War department to approximately 1,200 women and children who will participate in the first mass movement of military dependents to the European Theater of Operations. Approximately 38 are Pennsylvanians. The movement is scheduled to get under way about the middle of April.

Those selected for the trip were chosen by the theater command on the basis of priorities established in the War department principally in accordance with the length of time the applicants for their transportation agreed to continue service overseas.

The April contingent is composed of members of the immediate families of some 700 applicants of whom 24 are enlisted men. This total represented all enlisted men and all officers who requested transportation for their dependents during May and subsequent months have been filed with the theater commander and their names will appear on the list for the month in which the transportation was requested.

'Executed' By Nazis, GI Lives To Tell Story

PLATTE CITY, Mo.—(INS)—If you've wondered what it would be like to look into the rifle barrels of a firing squad as the "Pine" command is given, you might ask former Sgt. James Cockriel of Platte City, Mo.

Eight bullets were poured into his body by members of a German SS firing squad in September, 1944, and he lived to tell the story.

He was denied medical aid for 24 hours, and still carries three of the bullets which surgeons say they are afraid to remove.

Cockriel was shot down over Germany in April, 1944, and made his way to Belgium where he was protected by the resistance forces.

When British tank forces neared his hideout, Cockriel and resistance forces rushed out to be liberated. But instead of the English, German SS troops still in the area captured the group, and lined them up for execution.

Cockriel rolled into a ditch when he was shot and was found later by Belgians who took him to a doctor for treatment.

Maybe Mother and the rest of you take this faithful servant for granted. When you flick a switch you expect the power to be there—instantly—always. And the fact that it is didn't just happen. It comes from the friendly efficiency of the folks in this company.

WICHITA, Kans.—(INS)—Wendell Pollock and Bill Geist, Wichita high school buddies before they entered the Navy, were assigned to different units when they enlisted. Pollock recently wrote his parents that he was looking over the side of his ship and thinking of his friend during Navy Day exercises when a sub surfaced nearby. First, a crewman to emerge from the sub's conning tower was Geist.

The cost of the iceberg carriers was estimated at $70,000,000. When you considered that this sum is just for ice and does not include the rest of the stuff that goes to make up a highball, the price looks pretty steep.

Veteran Volunteers Contribution At Red Cross Chapter

Expresses Appreciation Of Red Cross Service During His

Red Cross workers are surprised many times, but seldom as pleasantly as when a young veteran comes to the chapter house to make a special donation because of his gratitude for the services he received from the Red Cross overseas.

The veteran is Sam Sanfilippo of New Castle, formerly a sergeant in the First Division. Sam went overseas in 1942 and had plenty of time overseas to size up the work of the Red Cross.

"There was plenty to gripe about, I guess," he says, "but an organization is made up of individuals and individuals can be good or not so good. As far as the organization goes, it was handling a big job and doing it well, and I came across a lot of fine people in it, too. There were so many little ways it helped out—a cup of coffee here, a doughnut there, a bit of advice, perhaps. And when we landed in New York, it was the Red Cross that met us at the dock with food. I don't feel that this money is a donation; I feel that it is partial payment of a debt which can never really be repaid."

Board Does Duty; Inducts Student 12,000 Miles Away

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 26.—Many men have gone overseas after receiving an invitation to do so from their draft boards, but 18-year-old John M. Balph reversed the procedure.

Now 12,000 miles away in Lahore, Punjab, India, the former Youngstown boy, has been inducted by Youngstown board No. 6, and has army officers thumbing through the regulations to see what the books have to say.

After reporting to New Delhi, Balph's induction was held up because of the unique circumstances. For one thing, officials are worried about giving the new serviceman basic training in a theater which is supposed to be closing down, and the officers are suggesting that Balph will be the first serviceman to get his overseas service in the United States.

A graduate of South High school in 1944, Balph attended Westminster College before going to India with his missionary parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Balph. The family came to Youngstown from India in 1934, and returned to the Orient last fall. John was studying for a Cambridge degree at Forman Christian College in Lahore.

No Postponement Of Second Atom Bomb Test Planned

WASHINGTON, March 26.—(INS)—Joint Army-Navy Task Force said today that there will be no postponement of the second atom bomb test on Bikini atoll in the Pacific.

This was revealed after a conference of staff members of the task group, headed by Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, the commander.

A spokesman for the staff said that "plans are going forward for both tests." There was no implication, he said, that the second test will be postponed.

The first test, an air explosion, scheduled for May 15, was postponed for six weeks, following orders by President Truman last Friday.

The plan now of the atom bomb staff is to hold the first test around July 1, with the second test—a surface explosion—coming within four or six weeks later. The thought is to get in both tests this summer to counteract any further delays because of the possibilities of bad weather.

TO HALT VICTIMS
PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—OPA Rent Director Rev. Charles O. Rice today moved to halt the eviction of 30 families from a nearby Swissvale housing project recently sold.

Father Rice said that the new owner was selling the units to returning veterans. The project was built as a war-time emergency to relieve the congested conditions.

The rent director added that the units are being sold at nearly twice what they cost and termed it a "flagrant example of the need for controls on sale of housing."

The new super-dooper automatic calculating machine is called "Eniac" and, says Zedok Dumkopf, trying to figure out how the gadget works is liable to turn you into a meniac.

CRIME CAREER OF FIVE BURGLARS IN PITTSBURGH ENDS

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—The sensational crime career of five burglars was over today after they pleaded guilty to 24 robberies in the past five weeks.

Judge ohn P. Egan sentenced Victor Stinge and Henry Chruschal to 5 years in an industrial school; Henry Nadzan to three years in the workhouse and placed William Moon and Robert E. Ward, a purple heart veteran, on five years probation.

The gang, which made nightly raids in the Pittsburgh district and stole everything from scarce steaks to juke boxes, were discovered when a jeweler noticed Stinge's wife wearing expensive costume jewelry. The gems happened to be part of the swag the thugs stole from the jeweler's store a few weeks previous.

Stinge implicated the rest of the gang.

State To Expand Veteran Training

Has Approved 7000 Industrial Courses In Plants Already; Staff Is Increased

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—The department of public instruction was ready today to expand its vocational training program for veterans.

Facilities of the U. S. employment service and directors of veterans' affairs will be used under the new program.

Applications for conducting industrial courses or apprenticeship programs will be handled by personnel in 36 newly created areas, according to W. W. Reynolds, chief of training facilities. Only six processing centers have been operating.

Approximately 7000 industrial plant programs have been approved, he added.

The thing has been growing by leaps and bounds since the first of the year," he stated.

Remuneration was voted for 100 volunteer vocational instructors. Reynolds said, to help speed the evaluation and approval of the projects. The type of training offered, facilities and wage policies must be inspected before government participation is assured.

Single veterans are entitled to $65 month as a differential between beginning pay and the salary of trained employees while former service men with families are granted a maximum of $90. The programs range from three months to six years, according to Reynolds.

VA Plans Helping Many Veterans To Get An Education

Training Facilities Division To Give Vets Education, On-The-Job Training

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(INS)—The Veterans Administration promised today to lend a helping hand to thousands of discharged GIs seeking education or on-the-job training.

J. George Brueckmann, director of vocational rehabilitation and education for the VA in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, announced that a new service to be known as the training facilities division has been created.

This division, he said, "is designed to locate, survey and develop training opportunities for the flood of ex-servicemen and women who are seeking further education or training and as far as possible, to place them in accordance with their aptitudes and skills."

Brueckmann asserted that thousands of veterans seeking to enter college are finding enrollments jammed.

"The training facilities service, in cooperation with educational agencies," he declared, "has begun a survey of institutions at the junior, college and college level in order to locate all available training facilities."

"It is believed that the results will be made available in time for the fall enrollments."

An effort will be made, Brueckmann explained, to spread the "student load" over the small colleges in order to relieve the congestion in the larger institutions.

He revealed that 16,634 Pennsylvania ex-GIs are currently enrolled under public law 346 (for able-bodied veterans) and 6,149 disabled veterans under public law 16.

These figures, he predicted, will increase greatly when summer and fall terms begin.

Stassen Upholds Foreign Policy

Leading G.O.P. Presidential Candidate Throws Weight Behind Byrnes' Foreign Policy

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a leading Republican presidential aspirant, threw his weight today behind the chief policies of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' foreign policy.

A speaker at a dinner marking the 125th anniversary of Greek independence, Stassen called upon America to back up "solid commitments" to the UNO with all its military and economic resources.

He said the U. S. must make it clear that a vote by any UNO participant could never "excuse an act of aggression."

Stassen, however, criticized the state department's policy on Argentina and Spain. He condemned the "blue book" on Argentina, and the release of the "documentary case against the Franco government."

He said those questions should rightly have been dealt with through the UNO or its Pan-American affiliate.

Sound Warning To Speed Drivers

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—The Keystone Automobile club sounded a warning against speedy driving on Pennsylvania highways which may be damaged by winter weather.

In many places highways are dangerously slippery at night due to alternate thawing and freezing at this time of year, Curran warned.

Psychiatrists Will Examine Man Held For Assault On Girl

State's Attorney At Joliet, Ill., To Ask Examination Of James F. Lincoln Jr.

JOLIET, Ill., March 26.—State's Attorney James E. Burke said today he would ask T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety, to assign psychiatrists to examine James F. Lincoln, Jr., 30-year-old heir for an assault on 9-year-old Carol Williams last Wednesday.

Burke said his action was prompted by his desire to oppose efforts by Lincoln's counsel to have him declared temporarily insane. Burke said:

"This man belongs in prison for the crimes he has committed. The state will exert every effort to see that he is sent there and kept there."

Lincoln, son of a wealthy Cleveland manufacturer, told Will county authorities that he beat and snatched the girl six times when she resisted his advances.

Girl May Recover
Physicians reported that the girl, although critically wounded, would recover unless unforeseen complications develop.

One bullet was still in her body and her skull is fractured in several places.

Burke said he would interview Carol on her experiences with Lincoln when physicians would permit.

His move to have state attorneys assigned to the case came after Lloyd Heth, Chicago attorney retained by Lincoln's father, announced he would have psychiatrists examine Lincoln.

Heth said he believed his client's mind was injured by a skull fracture suffered in an automobile accident in Cleveland 10 years ago.

Temperance Group Charges Government Pampers Distillers

Friends Association Says 'Warsaw Starves While Washington Guzzles'

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(INS)—The Friends Temperance Association charged the federal government with permitting liquor manufacturers to use grain which could be turned over to the starving allies.

In a report submitted to the 166th Philadelphia yearly meeting of Friends, the association declared:

"While Warsaw starves, Washington guzzles, and yet has the audacity to speak of our lofty American ideals. Those interested in peace should realize that the people of this nation spend on alcohol in one year 35 times the total cost of the League of Nations since its beginning."

The association also criticized what it called the government's policy of "promoting" the use of beer in the army and thereby increasing the task of "social readjustment."

Veteran Teacher Plans Retirement

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—(INS)—Ross E. Benchoff, veteran Johnstown school teacher, today planned on retiring May 31, after 24 years of service in the flood city's school system.

Benchoff's retirement was accepted by the school board when his physician advised him to do so because of an eye affliction. He has been on sabbatical leave for the past year.

Benchoff will go to Philadelphia to enter a hospital for treatment of his eyes.

Pupils Are Restless In Muggy Weather

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—(INS)—A group of Philadelphia school teachers reported today that spitballs are more likely to fly in the classroom when the weather is muggy.

The teachers made graphs of pupils' behavior and came up with the finding that conduct was almost sure to be good when the humidity ranged from 22 to 44 per cent. Above that figure, the kids were inclined to get restless and almost anything can happen, the group discovered.

WHY PRACTICALLY NO SILVER IS AVAILABLE AT THE PRESENT TIME

We have been advised by our National Association that we may expect only a trickle of silver goods after this month and then only for a short time, because practically no silver is available as both domestic and foreign sources are holding it in expectation of a price rise.

If the industry had access to Treasury stocks of "free" silver (non monetized) as they have had under the Green Act for the past two years ending December 31, 1945, the price would be stabilized at 71.11 cents per fine troy ounce and the supply would meet the demand and we all would have silver.

The Western Senators, however, have succeeded in holding up the Green Bill (S-1508), extending the Green Act by various delaying tactics even though the House has passed a similar Bill (The Martin Bill-HR-4590). They are also trying to get the balance of "free" silver in the Treasury monetized to make null and void the Green Bill if it is passed. The Treasury has agreed, however, not to monetize the free silver it presently holds until silver legislation is acted upon by Congress.

In order to break this impasse, Congressman John W. McCormack (House Majority Leader and Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (House Minority Leader) have amended the Post Office and Treasury Appropriation Bill (HR-5452) by inserting the provisions of the Green Bill. This Bill so amended has now passed the House and is presently before the Appropriations Committee of the Senate.

It now becomes essential for all of us to make our position clear to our Senators. Unless, with your cooperation, this proposed legislation can be brought before the Senate and favorably acted upon, we will get practically no silver goods from now on except those made from $1.29 silver. In such case this would represent a 270% increase in the price of silver to the manufacturer beyond the prevailing price in March 1941 when prices were frozen.

HELP PREVENT INFLATION BY WIRING OR WRITING YOUR SENATORS NOW

Tell them to vote to allow the Treasury to sell silver from its stocks of free silver to industry at not less than 71.11 cents per fine troy ounce. This is one time when a very small investment in time and money can pay enormous dividends.

Richard E. Rentz Tells Rotarians Of War Experiences

Interesting Account Of His Tour Of Duty Given Fellow Rotarians At Luncheon Monday

At their weekly luncheon meeting at The Castleton, Monday noon, fellow Rotarians had the privilege of hearing Richard E. Rentz tell about his experiences in the late war.

He related many interesting incidents, most of them of a humorous nature, about his experiences both in camp and in the European theater, where he served with the seventh infantry of the third division.

He explained why many of the American soldiers liked the Germans in preference to the British and French, stating that the people of the latter two countries were always argumentative about things which came up for discussion while the Germans were inclined to agree with everything the Americans do.

He stated that he found strong evidence that there is a German underground working against the allied countries and felt that strong occupational forces should be maintained there for some time to come. He also boasted the work of the Red Cross in the war theaters, stating that they did a fine job, and were right at the front with the men.

Family Comedy Is Rehearsed By Union Students

Union High school dramatics students have chosen a comedy which is "As Mad as a March Hare", for presentation in the Union High auditorium Thursday evening, April 4, at 8 o'clock.

Trouble begins when Grandma Hatter, who has been supporting the entire family for years, suddenly decides its time to quit. The mother is "nuts" about dramatics; the father is nuts about fishing; Gigi, the daughter, is nuts about athletics; Bunny, the son, is nuts about photography; and Angelica, the housekeeper, is just "nuts". Grandma gives this family three months to prove that they can make their own living, although none of them have ever earned a penny in their lives.

This crazy but lovable family is being created by the high school students under the direction of Miss Erma Padon of the school faculty.

Declares Some Japs Landed On West Coast During War

STOCKTON, Calif., March 26.—(INS)—Official comment was awaited today on the report that a party of 12 to 15 Japanese landed on the California coast in November, 1943.

Kenneth Hammaker, wartime Office of Civilian Defense official, told of the reported landing at a political rally in Stockton last night.

Hammaker said the Japanese apparently came ashore from a submarine scout the area and that they were immediately captured without a fight by an unidentified unit of the western defense command which, he said, happened to be on night maneuvers at the time.

Hammaker said the scene of the landing was at a spot about 15 miles north of San Francisco in Marin county.

Hammaker told the story of the landing at a dinner attended by some 400 members of the San Joaquin county Young Democrats club.

Hammaker served during the war as regional director of the Office of Civilian Defense for eight western states and is now a candidate for congress from the third California district.

Army officials could not be reached immediately for comment on the story, but it was believed to be the first time that such an incident has been publicly related.

Hammaker, a former Sacramento newspaperman, told the story, he said, to illustrate how vulnerable the Pacific coast was during the war.

Surplus Property Agency Planned For Aid Of Schools

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—A state surplus property agency was scheduled today to be activated by the department of public instruction April 1 to handle federal distributions to public schools and other educational organizations.

Dr. Paul L. Cressman, agency chief, explained that the organization would serve as a clearing house of information concerning materials available.

"The plan would facilitate the work of the U. S. office of education in determining what orders to place and speed filling demands of applicants," Cressman stated.

He explained that a 40 per cent discount of the "fair value" would be permitted education units, including schools attached to penal and mental institutions and charitable organizations conducting educational programs.

Materials would be pre-rated at the request of the directors, Cressman stated.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 26.—Tommy Holmes, the sawed-off, bull-shouldered right fielder, was sitting there seemingly puzzled by the vagaries of the life of a man who makes a business of trying to hit a baseball. He set a new National league record last season by connecting safely in 37 consecutive games.

He said today: "I can't get a hit in these exhibition games. It's bad for my morale one way, but it also is a great incentive. It makes you work harder and you always feel that when you start meeting the ball right, the hits will come in bunches."

Real Slugger Last Year
Holmes, a native of Brooklyn, who powdered the ball for 352 and 28 home runs with the Boston Braves last season, pointed to Hugh Poland, a catcher from Guthrie, Ky., built loose-coupled and lanky, and said:

"He's getting hits." Poland replied that he was getting a few and that it felt mighty good. He added:

"There isn't a ball player that doesn't love to hit—not one player. Even the pitchers too. I believe they like to hit better than anybody. I have heard people say they thought a hitter swung out on purpose. How about you, Phil?"

Masi Can Swat
Poland's half-kidding question was directed to Phil Masi, a broad-based, strong fellow from Chicago, with hair like a who's-who's nest because it is all this way and that way and won't stay combed evenly. Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves calls him the best catcher in the National league. Hank Gowdy also mentioned him recently to the writer as a standout receiver.

Masi replied with a wide grin that he cherished an abiding fondness for base knocks and asserted that he could use a few along about now.

Praises Williams
The writer said that Ted Williams, free-swinging hitter of the Boston Red Sox, seemed to have the idea that baseball was invented wrong, because it includes fielding. All he ever wants to do is take his cuts.

"Man, there's a hitter for you," Holmes said and grunted in vast appreciation of the Williams technique and results.
Poland said Williams will dem near reach back with his bat and take a pitch right out of your glove after it has passed him. "Great pair of eyes—born hitter and loose like this."

Room Shortage Poses Problem For Scientists

St. Louis Science Parley Finds 150 Experts Sleeping On Cots In Private Homes

ST. LOUIS, March 26.—(INS)—The nation's leading scientists, who discovered atomic energy, radar and other secrets of nature's magic, could find just about anything today—except a hotel room in St. Louis.

The learned scholars arriving here for the first postwar meeting tomorrow of the American Association for the advancement of science, found more than 150 of their number assigned to GI-like dormitories and some 500 others to rooms in private homes.

Between 1650 and 1700 of the more fortunate were registered in hotels.
Because of the housing shortage, a dormitory with 42 cots was provided in the Y. M. C. A. for the scientists, and the gymnasium of Washington University was fitted with approximately 100 cots. Many who had to put up with cots were nationally prominent in their own scientific and medical fields.

Interest in the scientific gathering, which continues through Saturday, centered on atomic energy, radar and the cosmic ray.

The study of the stars is a fascinating hobby, an astronomer tells us. Bobby-soxers agree, if he means the movie and radio variety.

Heizman Will Continue Bond Sales Promotion

Local Man Who Headed District War Bond Effort During War Will Continue Endeavors

A. R. Heizman, who served the War Finance department during the war as district representative of the United States Treasury department, in charge of bond sales, has accepted the post of county advisory chairman for Lawrence county of the U. S. Savings Bond program.

Although the war has ended, there is still need for bond purchases by the citizens to continue the job of cleaning up after the war.

In spite of the great strikes which have swept the country during the past few months, February bond sales increased about five million dollars in Pennsylvania over January. Charles J. Miel, state director of bond sales, announced. Redemptions were 9.2 per cent less than redemptions in January, Miel stated.

Pulaskis, Falcons Emerge Winners In Semi-Final Battles

K. P. Club Edges Columbus Club, 27-26; Falcons Defeat Fannins, 39 To 30
Winners Will Clash For Title Wednesday Night; Losers In Consolation Battle

As a packed house looked on in the "Y" gym last night the City-County Basketball Tournament swept through the semi-finals, with as many thrills as a double-feature movie bill.

With the onlookers going tense and limp by turns as the fortunes of the teams turned, the Polish Falcons came from behind to take over the Fannins in the first game, 39 to 30, while the K. Pulaski club pulled the real thriller of the night by nosing out the strong Columbus Club in an overtime period, 27 to 26.

To Meet for Trophy

So the two city rivals, who haven't met thus far this season, will finally clash together in a test of their case skills, when the final of the tournament unfolds at the "Y" floor Wednesday night. In the consolation game the Fannins and the Columbus Club will tangle for the second-place honors.

Fannins Pull Score

In the opening tilt last night, the Fannins jolted the Falcons by going ahead at the outset of the contest and remaining in the lead until the third period. The Fannins led at the half, 19-13.

With the situation getting no better for the Polish club, they finally rallied and dumped in three quickies to pull out in front in the ball game and from then on sailed in.

For the Fannins, the play of Santangelo, Nahas and Wainio stood out, and the losers' cause was given a severe jolt when Santangelo had to leave the contest on toils in the final frame.

Adams, Koszala and Morrison played fine ball for the Falcons, as the Polish club proved that they have true grit and deserve the right to meet the Pulaski club for the trophy.

Pulaski Win Thriller

The K. Pulaski-Columbus club clash proved to be the most thrilling game of the series so far and a contest that kept the fans yelling their heads off as these two titans battled with everything they had in a whopper of a ball game.

For the Columbus team the fine game of "Rages" Gennock earned him the praise of the crowd. He turned in one of the best efforts of his colorful career on the boards.

"Lindy" Lauro and P. Razzano also were big guns for the losers, playing fine offensive and defensive ball. The entire team did a good job of halting the high-scoring antics of Cooper and Wimer, the Pulaski ace.

White gave the group an interesting talk on stream stocking and said that some nice trout have been stocked in local streams. He answered questions concerning fish and fishing asked by the members. The next meeting of the club will be on Wednesday April 3 at 7:30 o'clock at the K. Pulaski Hall. Anyone wanting to join can call 227-J for particulars.

A film on fish and game will be shown at the next meeting through the courtesy of Warden White.

CAGE SCORE MARK OF 1903 STANDS

John Anderson Of Bucknell 'Bagged' 80 Points From Field In One Game

By KENNETH RHONE
(Central Press Correspondent)

LEWISBURG Pa., March 26.—Basketball followers of today think the modern cage player is a pretty fancy goal shooter—and he is, as the record to heavy-scoring games indicates.

But if they think that there wasn't at least one "old-timer" who could outshoot the hot shots of today—they've got another think coming.

The record for most points scored by a college player in a single game is held by John Anderson of Bucknell university. He bagged 80 points in one game. And they were all field goals, too—40 of 'em! No free shots for John.

Most amazing of all, Anderson did not play the last 15 minutes of the game!

Anderson, captain of the team, racked up the amazing total of 80 points in Bucknell's overwhelming defeat of Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, 159 to 5, in the Tustin gym at Lewisburg, Pa., home of Bucknell back in January, 1903.

Anderson dropped in 30 field goals in the first half and added 10 more in the first five minutes of the second. Then the coach took him out to give the subs a chance. It is possible, too, that the society for the prevention of cruelty to pharmaceutical colleges may have had something to do with it.

Anderson's 80 points is a record for a college player in one game, according to the books. A Redkey Junior college player challenged it but fell short with 73 in 1944.

The Bucknell sharpshooter later became a Pittsburgh physician. He died several years ago.

Bucknell, now busily engaged in celebrating its centennial, recalls that its 1903 cage team was undefeated. It scored 532 points to 130 for its opponents.

Tigers May Keep Pitcher Kretlow

LAKELEND, Fla., March 26.—(INS)—Detroit Tigers Manager Steve O'Neill is in a quandry over 22-year-old pitcher Lou Kretlow. Kretlow's brilliant pitching against the Cardinals at St. Petersburg set the manager wondering.

The Tigers skipper can't decide whether he should keep the hurler when the Tigers start their trek north.

Ben Chapman Is After 2000 Hits In Major Career

Manager Of Phils Needs But 45 More Hits To Join Select 2,000 Circle

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

MIAMI BEACH, March 26.—Before he lays aside his bat permanently, Ben Chapman would like to join the select little circle of ball players who have made 2,000 major league hits. He has 45 to go.

While the 37-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Phillies is listed on the roster as a pitcher, he fancies himself rather as an outfielder and pinch-hitter, with those 45 hits among his innumerable goals for next season.

The rough and tumble free-wheeling guy of the old days has taken on the dignity and poise implied by modern day managing and hasn't the slightest intention of throwing any punches from now on. Everything is going to be strictly nice and gentle.

Picks Bad Spot

All I can say is that he picked a bad spot in which to test control of what used to be a fearful temper. He has a better ball club than any seen in Philadelphia in recent seasons, but he has acquired it at a time when the rest are back with a bounce off the war.

Chapman said today as he puffed idly at a pipe:

"My job is to manage this club and get the utmost out of my players. That's what I plan to do. I will go in to pitch if it means saving another pitcher after a game seems hopelessly lost, or I will pinch-hit or play the outfield, but whatever I do will be in the interest of making the Phillies as good as I possibly can. But I hope I can get those 45 more hits than I need."

Always Good Hitter

The former firebrand from Alabama and points south has been one of the standard ball players in the majors. He led the American League four times in base-stealing with a high of 61 thefts in 1931. He hit as high as 340 and as a New York Yankee stood shoulder to shoulder with the best of them. He also played with the Boston Red Sox twice with the Washington Senators and was rescued after exile by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He punched all umpires when he was managing Richmond in the Piedmont League, was banished for a year and brought back to baseball as a pitcher with the Dodgers.

"That was my last punch," he says now.

But it wasn't his first one. He once fought Buddy Myer of the Washington Senators and flattened Earl Whitehill of that same club. He took a pounding from Garland Buckeye, an over-sized pitcher and a club said he was too hot to handle. Otherwise he would never have left the Yankees.

Chapman Fighter

He was a competitor of the old school, and in that respect hasn't changed a bit. He seems to need something to fight for—like, at the moment, 45 more base hits.

But he has no misguided opinions about the ability of old ball players. He said:

"I might still out-run most of the players in this camp, but I couldn't do it for long. Your legs get heavy and you need a lot of rest when you get up there past 35 or so."

Kiner Homers As Bucs Defeat Sox

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 26.—(INS)—Rookie Ralph Kiner today continued to pace the Pittsburgh Pirates in their spring exhibition tour.

Rowdy Ralph broke up the ball game yesterday in the ninth inning with a 450-foot home run wallop with a mate on base to give the Bucs a 5-4 verdict over the Chicago White Sox. It was the young infielder's seventh round-tripper of the "grapefruit" season.

CLARK REACHES PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—Lyle Clark, newly-appointed Pittsburgh coach, today arrived in town to help prepare the Panthers for their strenuous nine-game schedule next fall. Recently discharged from the navy, Clark was an assistant coach at Harvard before coming to Pitt.

Eighth Bout—158-pound class—Johnny Zilka, Aliquippa, decision Joe Wolfe, Pittsburgh, split decision.

Six knockdowns, one technical the eight bout fistic endeavor last "kayo" and two knockouts featured night in The Arena which was witnessed by approximately 1,000 fans.

It was climaxed by Johnny Zilka, of Aliquippa getting the official verdict after three rounds of fast battling with Joe Wolfe of Pittsburgh. They are 155-pounders.

Judge Phil Greer voted for Wolfe and Judge Fred Beard cast his ballot for Zilka. Because of the deadlock it required a vote from Referee Sam Laycock and he gave his award to Zilka. However, The News' decision, which is unofficial, must be given Wolfe who forced the fighting and landed cleaner punches.

Both were short with their punches in the opening round but Wolfe was more scientific than the Aliquippa southpaw who backed around the ring. After the second opened Wolfe forced Zilka to break ground then laced him in a corner. Zilka was bleeding in the middle of the round and was driven into the ropes just before the bell ended the second.

Wolfe sent a straight right to the body and Zilka put a right and left to the head. Wolfe retaliated with right and left to the head then assailed Zilka's midriff while Zilka was in a corner. Zilka broke away and crossed his left to the face but he received two lefts to the face as the bell sounded ending the fight which was fast and furious during the last two rounds. The judges split and the referee gave Zilka the bout.

Johnny Toth, the wild man of Aliquippa, was funnier than funny last night. In fact, he out-Kurtzed Muddy, the McKeesport amateur who fought and buried here. His welterweight opponent, Billy Baldwin, a light complexioned rangy colored boy was baffled completely in the first round however, it was in this round Toth broke a wrist bone because he doesn't know how to hit properly. He knocked out Baldwin in the third.

Les Leasure, local light-heavyweight, forced the fighting, kept Joe Jackson on the run and after flooring him in the third, knocked him out. Les showed improvement over former fights.

Chuck Gibbons of Ellwood City, flashed a lot of stuff and scored at TKO in the second over Jess Stotts, who despite four knockdowns put up a good fight.

All the other fights on the card were good. In fact, it was one of the "frightening nights" the Jefferson A. C. has arranged and the fans are looking forward to April 8 when another batch of amateur bouts will be staged.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAME

Tonight in the House basketball league at the "Y" the Mustangs will play the South Side Aces at 7 o'clock the winners to play the West Side A. C. for the House championship.

Oklahoma Aggies Favored To Win

North Carolina Will Have Trouble Stopping Big Bob Kurland, Is Belief

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—Oklahoma A. & M. is an 8-point favorite to win its second straight NCAA basketball championship by defeating North Carolina in the east-west final at Madison Square Garden tonight.

If the Aggies triumph, they will be the first team to win the NCAA final two years in succession. They have won 30 out of 32 this season.

The two teams never have met and the main task of the Tar Heels will be figuring a way to stop Bob Kurland, Oklahoma's seven-foot center who is an all-American for the third straight year.

The other Aggies are not prolific scorers but Kurland has averaged 20 points a game this season. He scored 29 points against California in Kansas City last Saturday night, increasing his total points to 820.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAME

Tonight in the House basketball league at the "Y" the Mustangs will play the South Side Aces at 7 o'clock the winners to play the West Side A. C. for the House championship.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

POSSIBILITY exists that when the Lawrence County Baseball League meets Thursday evening in the Sport Goods store, an eighth team will be added to the roster which now contains seven teams. According to Jim Martin, secretary of the circuit, the loop now consists of two Ellwood City teams (Shelby and V. F. W.), Hillsville, Edinburg, Bessemer, Wampum and Castlewood. It is also possible that the loop may become a 10-team circuit, report being to the effect that New Galilee and Koppel also wish to enter county baseball circles. Teams desiring games with the Sons of Italy should call S. I. Hall between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m., according to Francis Augustine. Several days ago the team defeated a team from West Pittsburg.

Because of weather conditions it is unlikely that any more fox hunts will be staged by the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association this season. Promoter Bert Walsh of Youngstown writes that Holman Williams of Chicago and Bill Lytle of Fresno, Calif., will meet in a 10-round pro boxing show, next Tuesday night. Joe Savoldi and Fred Bozie, grapplers, will meet in The Arena next Monday night. Both won their exhibitions here two weeks ago tonight. Bozie sustained a gashed lip.

S-Sgt. Wally Kibrea, former captain of the Hershey Bears hockey team, has returned to civilian life after two years with the air force in India. He found his all-time mark of 31 goals and 68 assists for 99 points, yet stands. Last season Bob Walther and Bob Gracie of the Pittsburgh Hornets tied for the scoring leading in the loop with 94 points. This season Les Douglas of the Indianapolis Caps, was high with 90 markers.

Kentucky Derby will be held May 4 and already some local horse flesh lovers are talking of attending the event. Fame gained in The Arena has got Bill Bozy of Ellwood City a main bout on a Chicago amateur card. He will meet an opponent from Des Moines, Ia., tonight. Howard McCloskey is training Bill who scored two knockouts here. First time Joe Savoldi wrestled here his share of the receipts as $17.00.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

MIAMI, Fla., March 26.—The New York Giants, who paid $175,000 for Catcher Walker Cooper and forgot to hire anybody to pitch to him, impress bystanders as the kind of ball club that might finish anywhere from second to seventh in the forthcoming National League race.

They haven't got enough mound strength or speed to win the pennant, and they have too much power to land in the cellar. That's the way they look on paper and on their training field here.

Out Still Going

Met Ot: The little old manager of the club on a five-year contract and right fielder as long as his legs will hold up, alters the foregoing impression.

He said today, as he sat gouging a thumb into his bare thigh trying to find the cause of a pain:

"We will field well, we have batting power, we may have pitching and I don't agree that we are as slow as everybody makes us out to be. This looks like a good club to me—survivor through the middle."

Last survivor of John McGraw's teams Ot: At 37 has been hurling his frame around baseball fields 21 years or since he was 16, and he is beginning to show the wear and tear of it all.

Sorling helps an athlete's old age like a road comfortable bench and Ot: is beginning to realize this reluctantly. Nevertheless he is determined to star in right field.

Good Outfield

Babe Young will be in center and Sid Gordon in right. The latter is a converted infielder and both he and Young are just back from the war. Ot also can call on Johnny Rucker and Moe Amovich and Willard Marshall is expected back by June.

Cooper will begin catching $175,000 worth, everybody hopes, soon after he is discharged from the Navy. April 2 Clyde Klutz and Ernie Lombardi also are available. But slow.

Mize At First

Johnny Mize is shaping up well at first base and will wield what the giants hope will be a powerful bat. Little George Hausmann, who hit 279 as the regular second baseman last season, is fighting for the position with Bob Blattner, back from service. Mickey Witke has come back to hold down third and Bill Rigney and Johnny Kerr are fighting for the shortstop spot.

Ott, Mize, Young, Gordon and Cooper will furnish the punch. It will be good, but not good enough to make anybody run off and hide.

Western Amateurs Trim East, 10 To 6

NEW YORK, March 26.—(INS)—Western amateur boxers again claimed superiority over eastern simon-pures today.

Chicago won the 19th annual inter-city Golden Gloves championship from New York at Madison Square Garden by a score of 19 to 6, before a sell-out crowd of 19,216.

Four Cabinet Officers Ousted

Shroyer Is Fourth On List In Past 13 Years To Be Removed From Cabinets

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, March 26.—(INS)—Four cabinet officers have been ousted by chief executives during the past 13 years. . . . John U. Shroyer, of Shamokin, former secretary of highways and an independent Republican gubernatorial candidate, was dismissed March 20 by Gov. Edward Martin for disloyalty. . . . One cabinet officer was fired by each of the three chief executives who preceded Governor Martin. . . . Ex-Gov. Arthur H. James ousted William J. Hamilton, of Philadelphia, as secretary of revenue on July 29, 1941. . . . Another member of James' cabinet, Richard P. Brown, of Philadelphia, resigned as secretary of commerce March 3, 1941, following a dispute over advertising.

Only cabinet official ousted by former Gov. George H. Earle was Attorney General Charles J. Marzotti, of Pottsville. . . . Marzotti was dismissed for accusations of state officials. . . . He was dismissed April 27, 1938. . . . During the second term of former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, one cabinet official was removed by executive order. . . . He was Dr. A. M. Northrup, of Wilkes-Barre, who had been secretary of labor and industry. . . . Northrup was fired July 15, 1933.

After Shroyer was ousted by the governor, he spent about a half-bushel of apples to the chief executive's office. They had been purchased by the ex-secretary for John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for governor. "Ed Martin and I are probably the greatest apple eaters in the world," Shroyer said. "I didn't want them to go to waste."

Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell has reported that department foresters were seeking species of the American chestnut tree, more than 12 inches in diameter, which have escaped the blight. . . . Kell explained that chestnut trees have been "slowly declining to a place of practical extinction."

The State Health department has reported that 95 per cent of the heart disease in children and 35 per cent of the heart disease suffered by adults was caused by rheumatic fever.

The end of the war and the lifting of gasoline rationing was expected to once again bring hundreds of students to the State Capitol to witness democracy in action. . . . In pre-war days, large classes of students touring the State Capitol were a familiar sight. . . . More than a score of students from Philadelphia Friends' Central High school were the vanguard of the pupils touring the State House this year.

Weeds Will Not Crowd Out Grass Claims Professor

STATE COLLEGE, March 26.—Weeds won't crowd out good grass. They thrive when the grass weakens and no longer is able to compete with them.

So says H. B. Musser, professor of experimental agronomy at the Pennsylvania State college, who also made these suggestions:

- (1) Don't scalp your lawn. Cut the grass only when it needs cutting and not when a certain day of the week rolls around.
 - (2) Too much water "may choke the grass to death."
 - (3) Over seeding is another common error. Also too much fertilizer may do more harm than good.
- In conclusion, Musser warned lawn-keepers "not to overdo it in the Spring."
- "Save some of that enthusiasm for the Fall," he advises. "It's in the Fall when lawns should be fertilized and given extra care."

HANG CLOTHES CAREFULLY TO MAKE IRONING EASIER

Ironing is easier and faster if the articles are well washed and carefully hung for drying. This is a reminder for homemakers who want to make the most of their time these busy days.

Proper washing takes out the dirt and good rinsing carries away the loosened soil. Well-hung clothes dry with few wrinkles which makes for easier ironing.

For homemakers who would like to check on their laundering procedure to see if they are making the best use of their time, the following suggestions are offered: Sort and group the clothes after mending and removal of spots and stains. Wash in good suds of the proper temperature. Rinse well. A hot water first rinse takes out soap and soil. A first rinse of cold water is likely to tell the soap and drive the dirt in rather than take it out. Put clothes through the wringer straight; there is no need to press in extra wrinkles. Starch clothes needing it then hang them.

"Shake" out each piece and hang evenly on the line. When possible hang on the straight of the goods. Use plenty of pins. Pull and straighten all selvages, seams, and hems.

When the cloths are dry, take them down and fold and pile together the ones that need no ironing. Some pieces may be damp enough as they are taken down to be rolled lightly without further dampening. Be sure to get the right amount of moisture in the cloths for speedy and easy ironing.

Additional information is contained in a circular "Lauderline at Home" which may be secured free of charge from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Army Doctors Need Graduate Training

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Thousands of doctors who served in the armed forces will have to return to hospitals for graduate training in surgery. Major General Charles R. Reynolds told a sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons in Pittsburgh.

Gen. Reynolds, director of graduate training in surgery for the organization, declared that of 60,000 doctors who served in the armed forces, 22 per cent entered early in their hospital training and 10 per cent more before completing hospital training. He said:

"Approximately 18,000 medical officers are recent graduates whose hospital training has been interrupted. This great responsibility comes to the medical profession and hospitals as an avalanche."

He explained that the College of Surgeons is abetting the problem by speeding up a hospital training program.

U. S. Steel Report Shows Production High, Gains Down

Labor, Material Costs, Plus Rigid Ceilings Keep Financial Results Down

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—(INS)—One of the largest productive years in history was disclosed today in the annual report of the United States Steel corporation.

The report showed a downward trend in financial results.

The corporation blamed the decreased figures on rising labor and material costs combined with rigid ceiling prices.

Board Chairman Irving S. Uris said U. S. Steel lost approximately 29 million tons of steel ingots during the four-week steel strike.

He added that the corporation believed the recent $5 a ton price increase would be "inadequate" to compensate for heavy costs and labor wage increases.

Olds forecast resulting price increases in "countless industries" which would "seriously disturb the transition to a peace time economy."

He said:

"The 1946 steel price directive, associated by the government with wage increases differs wholly from a price rise in a free economy where prices and costs are controlled by customers spurring competitive efforts."

The annual report disclosed that steel operations declined with the end of the war. Finished steel shipped during 1945 amounted to 18.4 million tons—2.6 million tons less than the all-time record in 1944.

U. S. Steel's revenue from sale of products and services in 1945 was $1,747,338,061—16.1 per cent less than 1944. Corporation income was $58,015,056, a decrease of $2,776,235 from the previous year.
